okay okay so

Looking around, it seems like we've got a mixed bag of impressions for Newsfeed, and none I've encountered so far are particularly on the bright side. I feel that way, too. I guess I didn't really look into the name of 'Newsfeed'. It doesn't really imply long, in-depth posts like the forums. But, honestly, do you think the original forum devs expected us to aggressively deviate from talking about the books to the point that there's a nonfandom roleplay centered around forum users as divine beings in a fictional world? It's going to take some time to get Newsfeed off the ground, but as I've said before we have the unique opportunity to play a hand in shaping it the way we want it to be. We didn't really get that with the forums. That being said, I'm pretty sure the dev team/mods jumped through a lot of hoops to deliver the Newsfeed to us before the forums went away. It is in no way a finished project, and niether is Home Base as a whole. Some faults that are more on the technical side are most likely things we have to wait to be patched and fixed, but some things we can do ourselves while we wait for better features, like put post titles in brackets, signing posts manually, etc. It kind of sucks now, but it could be much worse.

When it's time for you to venture out, don't let fear have you looking back at what you're leaving behind.

I agree..

I'm still anxious that we could lose RP's and Forumfics, but hopefully we can get more stuff.

I'll try to help it tomorrow, maybe bring more of my stuff in.

I'm both pessimistic and hopeful, so I feel tired.

Hopefully, it'll get better, but I still fear..

Also, good news! It seems like HTML stuff does work on the newsfeed/in chat. So you can bold, italicize, and color stuff. I haven't really gone into it besides that, and I'm not really the best person to ask about coding, but it's pretty easy once you get used to it
